FAST FACTS

Dear Readers: For the household, make up a basket with the following items:

- * Cellphone
- * Tube of hand cream
- * TV remote
- * Medications he or she will need
- * Small package of tissues
- * Bottled water (with a cap)

HIDING A COMPOST PILE

Dear Heloise: I want to start a compost pile, but they're not very attractive. Any suggestions on where to put it and how to disguise it? -- Holly D., Lake Charles, La.

Holly, probably the best place is in a back corner of the backyard. It'll be easy to use, but to conceal it, try growing a double row of sunflowers or any combination of high- and low-growing plants. Be sure to use some kind of containment for the compost pile, such as concrete blocks, shipping pallets on end or a huge bin. -- Heloise

LESS MESS

Dear Heloise: I save the lids from things like cottage cheese, yogurt, sour cream, etc., and use them under items such as bottles of oil, jellies and jams, honey or just about anything that is sticky and messy. It saves me having to scrub and scrape my shelves. -- Meghan V., Los Gatos, Calif.

PEARLS
Dear Heloise: I inherited a beautiful black pearl necklace from my grandmother, but I need to have the pearls restrung. How do I keep them as nice-looking as my grandmother kept them? -- Emily O., Lowell, Mass.

Emily, I love pearls! First, to clean them, use a very soft cloth and a cup of water with just a drop of shampoo in it. Gently clean each pearl, rinse with water, then dry with another clean cloth. To keep them looking good, wipe them down with a clean cloth after each wearing. When you have the pearls restrung, ask the jeweler to tie a knot between each pearl, so if the strand breaks, you will only lose one pearl. -- Heloise

HINT FROM HIM

Dear Heloise: I have a bamboo backscratcher that I keep in the laundry room and use to pull clothes from the back of the dryer. No stooping and stretching to reach. -- Tom F., Canyon Lake, Texas

BIG FIT AND CONTROLS SUGGEST OPTIMISM

Margery Allingham, an English detective novelist, wrote, "The optimism of a healthy mind is indefatigable."

Bridge players have healthy minds, but they are not always optimistic. Look at the North hand in today's diagram. Partner opens one spade, and righty overcalls two diamonds. What would you respond?

This deal was played 16 times at Bridge Base Online. Most Wests overcalled two diamonds, though a takeout double would have been reasonable. Then, pessimistically, numerous Norths bid only two spades. True, it was unlikely to be passed out, but why mislead partner so badly? North should have insisted on game and suggested a slam. Ideally, he would have made a three-diamond cue-bid raise or a four-diamond splinter bid, showing a singleton or void in diamonds.

How should South play in six spades after West leads the diamond ace?

Declarer would like to try for three club tricks, but if East proves to have king- or queen-fourth, then South plays West for the heart queen and jack. However, when West gets in with his club royal, he can shift to a heart, forcing South to decide what to do before he knows about the exact club position.

Declarer ruffs the diamond and plays a club to his 10. Here, it loses to West's king, and suppose West shifts to a heart. South wins on the board, draws trumps, ruffs his last diamond and plays a club. He plans to finesse, but when the queen appears, he can claim. Declarer takes five spades, two hearts, three clubs and two diamond ruffs. The odds in the club suit are an acceptable 60.7 percent.

BIRTHDAY GAL: Actress Julie Benz was born in Pittsburgh today in 1972. This birthday gal played Amanda Rosewater on "Defiance," and Rita Bennett on "Dexter." She also plays the recurring role of Abby Dunn on "Hawaii Five-O." On the big screen, Benz' film resume includes "Havenhurst," "Punisher: War Zone," and "Rambo." She will next appear in the upcoming drama "Foster Boy."

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr. 19): Keep interactions light and friendly. Discussing topics such as politics or religion may invite dissension and trouble so steer clear of volatile issues. Working toward common goals may turn co-workers into friends.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Do your homework. You'll earn respect and admiration from all concerned if you begin your latest endeavor both well prepared and well informed. Someone may be grateful if you take an interest in their progress.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Get rid of the spin. The information you receive may be biased to fit an agenda, so it may take a bit of research to find the truth. You may seem more attractive than usual, but that may not be an entirely good thing.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Keep prejudices in check. There may be a tendency to see only what you want to see if that's all you expect from the get-go. You may find that a new face in your circle is more interesting than you originally thought.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Loose lips sink ships. Be mindful of your company and choose your words carefully as you may say the wrong thing at the wrong time. A loved one may appreciate it if you set aside some quality time for them.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Be respectful of the opposition. Differing points of view on an issue doesn't mean that you must become mortal enemies. Look for common ground that you can build upon rather than ways to tear each other down.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): What goes up must come down. A minor spat with a loved one is nothing to hold a grudge over. Accept that you can't always be perfect harmony. Besides, finding creative ways to make up can end up being a lot of fun.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Don't take anything for granted. Be sure to check with a friend or loved one before making plans as they may be on a completely different page. Be clear with key communications or risk key misunderstandings.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Handle situations with tact. Even if you think that someone's idea is the most ridiculous thing you've ever heard, let them know it diplomatically. Being too blunt about matters of the heart could backfire.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Let them learn it for themselves. Avoid being too protective of a friend or loved one since it may be more valuable for them to gain experiences on their own. Someone may be more formidable than you thought.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Don't be predictable. You can break up the monotony by doing things on the spur of the moment and giving in to flights of fancy. A loved one may find you more exciting if they don't know what you're thinking.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Let the chips fall where they may. Don't try to force things to happen more quickly by taking risks as you may lose all the progress that you've gained. Be patient and let the pieces fall into place naturally.

IF MAY 1 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: During the next two to three weeks you may learn that having the facts at your disposal and knowing how to use them in practical matters are two different things. Focus on gathering facts and steer clear of making your ambitions known. Late May and early June is a good time to make long range plans or to set the wheels in motion with a new project or idea. Anything that is in your best interests will run smoothly, but if you are heading in the wrong direction the universe will block the way. In July you will be best equipped to make material success a priority and negotiate from a position of strength. That is the best time to make sound business choices and major financial and career decisions. Avoid making new romantic connections or investments in October when your head is in the clouds and you may not see the pitfalls.
